MISS GEORGIA CAINE, now appearing at the Lyric Theatre, New York, in "The Motor Girl," her greatest Broadway success, speaking of "The Bill-Toppers," André Castaigne's novel of "the halls," says:

"I have never read a book in which the atmosphere was so vividly and wonderfully perfect. This may have appealed to me particularly for the reason that I am familiar with much of the life of vaudeville artists abroad; but, to me, this makes it seem all the more remarkable, as usually a story that seems very convincing to the layman is looked upon by those who know as a good deal of a joke. Mr. Castaigne has proved himself an artist in word painting as well as with the brush, and, for my part, I shall eagerly look forward to his next story."

[Signed] GEORGIA CAINE.

"THE BILL-TOPPERS," by André Castaigne. Twenty-five pictures by the author. Cover by Harrison Fisher, in four colors, and gold embossed. $1.50. THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, Publishers. To be published September Eleventh.

The story consists of three essentially different narratives cleverly welded into one, and each is a vital necessity to the other.

The reader is scarcely over the thrill of one ingeniously contrived complication before he is introduced to another.

Seldom has such a wealth of material been so vigorously pruned, or so lucidly presented.

The love interest is well sustained to the very end, and it is destined to be the leading book of the year.

MISERERE NOBIS

¶ The wonderful insight with which she probes the innermost depths of two strong modern natures, whose highly developed intellects are for a time unable to silence elemental passion; the consummate skill with which the mature age of the heroine is made to tell in the struggle between passionate folly and expediency; the subtle influence of the actress's profession over her woman's instincts in arriving at a final decision—an influence that insidiously dominates the man himself, wilful and masterful though he is represented to be—all bear the stamp of the finished artist.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE METROPOLITAN PRESS, 1 Madison Avenue, New York, will publish on September 1 "The Flaw in the Sapphire," a new book by Charles M. Snyder, author of "Runaway Robinson," etc. The story consists of three essentially different narratives cleverly welded into one, each being a vital necessity to the other.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. announce a translation of "The Shadow of the Cathedral," a novel of Spanish life by Vincente Ibanez. The hero, Gabriel Luna, is a visionary who is brought up for the priesthood but ultimately rejects it to advocate religious reforms. The cathedral of Toledo provides the background of the story.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on the 1st of September "Anne of Avonlea," a sequel to that much appreciated and popular "Anne of Green Gables," by L. M. Montgomery. "Anne Shirley" of Green Gables was brought out only a year ago, yet she has recommended herself to all classes of readers by her spontaneous humor, her tender heart and some very interesting affairs.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have just brought out "A Castle of Dreams," by Netta J. Syrett, an idyllic story of Irish life somewhat in the vein of Miss Tynan's well-known stories. They have also just ready "The Master of Life," by W. D. Lighthall. "The Master of Life" was the god of the Iroquois Indians and dwelt beneath the waters of the St. Lawrence River. His inspiration led Hiawatha to found the famous league of the Five Nations. The Indians of the story are town builders, lovers of peace for the most part, imbued with a deep poetic strain, and worshippers of nature. The story is full of vigorous action, and may be described as a romance of the Iroquois soul. The story was dramatized and formed the chief attraction of the Lake Champlain Tercentenary at Toronto, July 4 to 9.

CUPPLES & LEON COMPANY have now ready in the Motor Boy Series, by Clarence Young, "The Motor Boys in Strange Waters, or, Lost in a Floating Forest," and "The Motor Boys on the Pacific, or, the Young Derelict Hunters; "The Darewell Chums on a Cruise," by Allen Chapman, in The Darewell Chums Series; "Dorothy Dale's Great Secret" and "Dorothy Dale and Her Chums," by Margaret Penrose, in The Dorothy Dale Series; "Jack Ranger's Ocean Cruise, or, the Wreck of the Polly Ann," by Clarence Young, in The Jack Ranger Series; also, "The Musket Boys of Old Boston, or, the First Blow for Liberty," and "The Musket Boys Under Washington, or, the Tories of Old New York," by George A. Warren, in The Revolutionary Series. All these books are illustrated.

B. W. HUEBSCH will publish this month a work on "India—Impressions and Suggestions," by J. Keir Hardie, M.P., who is well known as the leader of the Labor party in Parliament and is one of the important personalities to be reckoned with in British politics. He spent two months in India studying social, political and economic conditions, and writes frankly and freely of what he saw. The eyes of the world are now on India, and some of the problems facing the British government there are similar to those which we are meeting in our relations with outlying dependencies. The chapter on the "color line" deals with a difficulty altogether different from our own, yet it has a lively interest for Americans. The entire subject is of the utmost importance, and as Mr. Hardie discusses it authoritatively the book will be of service to students of government, economics and ethnology. Besides, it is entertaining reading as a gifted traveller's impressions.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books issued by publishers who protect the prices of their new publications are preceded in this list by the double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. Works of fiction (not net) of which a minimum price is protected by their publishers, are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not protected are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

This is the tenth report of the League, covering two years ending March 2, 1909.

Ashburn, P. M. The elements of military hygiene, especially arranged for officers and men of the line. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., 1909. c. 314 p. D. cl., $2 net.

Author is major Medical Corps, United States Army. Line officers and enlisted men should co-operate more freely and intelligently with medical officers in their efforts to promote the sanitation of the army. It is hoped the medical officers may find the book useful in their dual capacities of administrators and teachers. Divided into three parts: 1, The recruit and his environment; 2, The causes of disease; 3, The prevention and control of epidemics.

Babson, Roger Ward. Business barometers used in the accumulation of money: a textbook on fundamental statistics for investors and merchants. Wellesley Hills, Mass., Roger Ward Babson, [1909.] c. 390 p. fold. diagrs., S. cl., $2; leath., $3.

Mr. Babson's time is devoted to the compiling of statistics and reports for bankers and merchants, and he here sets forth the conclusions of many years' experience. The object of the book is to show the possibilities and the limitations of financial statistics, and to give simple and practical examples of their use. Numerous tables and diagrams are given which will be found most useful to those studying the book in order to be able to learn how to judge the stock market with some degree of certainty.

Balleine, G. R. A history of the evangelical party in the Church of England. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1908, [1909.] 11+ 338 p. pors. D. price reduced from *$1.75 net to *$1 net.

The author is Vicar of St. James's, Bermondsey, a parish of London, of which tanneries are the chief industry. The history opens at Oxford in the year 1729, when George II. was king. The author describes the England of Sir Robert Walpole and its low standard of morals and the neglect of the clergy and their loose morality. Within the established church came the reform. The Evangelicals believed in living the religion in daily life and every day. Describes the work of the Wesleys, Hannah More, Lady Huntington, Fletcher, Newton, Cowper and their followers. How the Evangelicals finally became a separate sect and the gradual reform among the clergy are pictured. Chronological table of events from 1729 to 1899. Lists of sources follow each chapter.

ence, its place in the national development, and the public result of its practical operation, by Edwin Balmer; with the counsel of T: Balmer. Chic., [Edwin Balmer, 1045 Hollywood Ave.,] 1909. 64 p. S. hf. cl., 25 c.

Describes a young couple just going to house-keeping who have bought all their household goods just from advertisements in half a dozen magazines, in the street cars and on the fences of empty lots. From this text the writer evolves an essay on practical, progressive American people who live surrounded by advertisements for which they each year pay more than they did the year before.

Bragdon, Claud. Theosophy and the Theosophical Society. Rochester, N. Y., Manas Press, 860 Mount Hope Ave., 1909. c. 29 p. D. pap., 25 c.

The Theosophical Society is composed of students belonging to any religion or to none who are united: first, to form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity without distinction of race, creed, sect, caste or color; second, to encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science; third, to investigate unexplained laws of nature, and the powers latent in man. A brief essay on this philosophy which prevails in the world, not by the authority of dogma, the pomp of ritual, the wonder of miracle, but by a slow and quiet conquest of the mind. This is the first publication of the Manas Press.

The author was founder and for over seven years speaker for the Metropolitan Independent Church, New York City. His former works—"The triumph of truth," "The mastery of mind" and "The kingdom of love"—have proved his love of truth and his fearless work to reach it. The historical and philosophical research lead to a negative conclusion; then the modern scientific aspect and its possibilities are studied, and the author's suggestive conclusions are established on well-sifted, scientific data. Science is still prepared to admit that under certain conditions individual organizations may be preserved beyond this physical life.

Collections of the Illinois State Historical Library. v. 4, Executive ser. v. 1, The governors' letter-books, 1818-1834; ed. with introd. and notes by Evarts Boutell Greene and Clarence Walworth Alvord. Springfield, Ill., Illinois State Historical Library, 1909. 33+317 p. pors. O. cl. (Add. pubs. for price.)

It presents the first of a new series of volumes which will be devoted to the manuscript material illustrating the offices of the chief executive of the state. It deals with the executive letter books of Shadrach Bond, Edward Coles, Ninian Edwards and John Reynolds.

Irwin, W: H: The confessions of a con man; as told to Will Irwin; il. by W. Glackens. N. Y., Benjamin W. Huebsch, 1909. c. 182 p. D. cl., *$1 net.

In his preface Mr. Irwin assures us of his belief in the genuineness of the confessions and disclaims any responsibility but that of a transcriber. The con man's life is amusingly told as he wanders about the country with poor circuses or opens a gambling room in some western town. He gives up his precarious life at last, not on moral grounds, but because he wants "to be able to look over his own shoulder in the dark."

Jespersen, Otto. A modern English grammar on historical principles. pt. 1, Sounds and spellings. N. Y., G. E. Stechert & Co., 1909. 11+485 p. D. (Germanische bibliotek.) cl., *$3 net.

Written by a Dane and set up by German compositors. It is not yet decided in how many volumes this very erudite work is to appear. The present volume gives the reasons for the innumerable points of disagreement between the English language as now spoken and the same language as now written between sounds and spellings. English has come to us from many languages, and the learners often imitated the spelling habits of languages whose sound systems were widely different from their own. Elaborate index (30 p.).

Kaler, Ja. Otis, ["Ja. Otis," pseud.] Found by the circus. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1909.] c. pls. D. cl., $1.

The latest story of this popular writer tells a tale of life behind the scenes of a circus. The show picks up a stray youngster who has gone to sleep in one of the wagons, and the clown becomes his special champion. A lion hurts the boy slightly, whereupon he is swathed in many bandages and becomes the hero of the performance. The hero's aunt finally appears, a straight-laced lady scandalized with circuses. Gives a good picture of old-time travelling circus life.

In 1872 Bishop Andrews was elected and served until retired in May, 1904. During these thirty-two years the Methodist Episcopal church underwent great expansion. This period witnessed the opening of missions in Mexico, in western South America, in western China, in Korea and in Japan; also the opening of deaconess work, the Epworth League and many educational institutions. The settling of the great West and of many great problems of the Methodist organization may be studied in these pages.

THE NEW TARIFF ON BOOK MATERIALS.

THE features of the Payne tariff, so far as it affects the publishing trade, are given elsewhere in detail, in comparison with the rates under the Dingley law. There is no change in the duty on books, but it may be noted that the exemption of works over twenty years old has been extended to cover works of art as well as books. The arguments of the Typothetæ in favor of an increase of the duty on books to 75% were perhaps offset by the arguments in favor of free books, (despite continuing duties on the material of books,) with the result that this part of the tariff is left in statu quo ante.

In regard to paper and its components, mechanically ground pulp is admitted duty free, except from countries not observing reciprocity, in which case the old duties stand; but there is no change in the duties on chemical pulp. Printing papers not above 2½ c. per pound have been reduced in specific duties about one quarter, but there is no change in ordinary papers above that price, and on surface-coated papers there has been an increase in specific duties to 5 c. per pound. It will be noted that the changes are all in the interests of newspaper publishers and against book publishers.

The most remarkable change is in respect to lithographic plates and transfers. While electrotypes and stereotypes have been reduced from 25% to 20%, lithographic plates and transfers have been increased from 25% to 50% ad valorem, in response doubtless to the noteworthy persistence or political power of the lithographic interest in Congress. Type metal has been reduced from 1½ c. to 1¼ c. per pound, but the duty on new type remains the same.

In respect to binding materials there is little change. Binding cloth is the same, and silver leaf has been slightly reduced. Skins suitable for bookbinding have been reduced from 20% to 15% ad valorem.

The particularizations and provisos of the new bill make it more difficult of understanding than the previous tariff, and so far as the book publishing trade is concerned the "downward revision" seems to prove rather an upward revision. Had the duty on books been removed, as some advocated, and the duty on book materials stood as cited, the business of book publishing in this country would have been seriously handicapped. On the whole, book publishers can only be thankful that there is nothing worse.

BOOKSELLERS should make their preparations for stocks of seasonable goods early enough to insure an assortment that will appeal to their trade. Travellers are showing their fall lines, and from all reports the orders from the trade in the West are twenty-five per cent. ahead of their orders a year ago. The lines this year are unusually attractive, and while it may not be wise for every bookseller to stock up with every new title, he should be forehanded enough to "lay in" the lines that every one may know will sell "on sight." We would strongly advise dealers to buy season goods now and to get ready to sell them when the proper time comes, such as Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and New Year. Goods for these seasons should be in stock early enough to be suitably displayed and advertised so that purchasers may know what to expect. Proper displays and advertising are both essential features of the trade in season goods. Dealers should remember this, though the advice is given ahead of time, and when buyers show conservatism, the advertising end should be emphasized more strongly than ever before.

NEITHER the American [authors'] Copyright League nor the American Publishers' Copyright League has any association with, or knowledge of, an "International Copyright Bureau, Clifton Harvey Levy, Director," which has been sending out circular letters from 87 Nassau Street, New York. Certain inquiries made of us suggest that there has been some confusion in this respect, which makes this explanation desirable. It is perhaps unfortunate that so large and possibly misleading a name should be used in connection with a personal business.

BOOKS AND BOOK MATERIALS UNDER THE PAYNE TARIFF BILL.

THE following items relating to books and book materials are taken from the new tariff bill "to provide revenue, equalize duties and encourage the industries of the United States," introduced on March 17, in the House of Representatives, by Mr. Payne, committed on the following day to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union and signed by President Taft on August 5, on which date it became law:

THE NEW TARIFF LAW.

PAUL ELDER'S NEW BOOK SHOP.

"Books in a Gothic scriptorium, books in the sort of place where books were born, and thought and learning felt at home, are," according to the San Francisco Chronicle, "what the new San Francisco will have to offer in Paul Elder's store. It is a pity to speak of such a place as a store. Its atmosphere is as little suggestive of merchandizing, even of book merchandizing, as anything of to-day could well be. In such places clerics illuminated missals for the glory of God and wrote down their pious thoughts for love of man, and in such places the lamp of learning was kept alive by sequestered monks through the Dark Ages. Gothic arches intercross above. Between their supporting columns rise curtain walls of old gray stones, against which stand ranks and ranks of books. Along one side, but high up, a tier of stained windows gives the clerestory lighting of old cathedrals, the sort of lighting architects have struggled for as the ideal illumination of handsome interiors. Stairs in deep-panelled cases rise at either end to upper chambers, which at the stair heads look back into the main hall through windows of deep Gothic tracery, hand-carved in heavy timber and richly gilded. This treatment has also been applied to a hooded seat in the main room, and to a tall glazed feretory on the center of the floor, which will contain some of those treasures in porcelain, silver and turquoise, or jade and gold, that Elder shows from time to time. The dominant color is gray—not a cold gray, but that solid and reassuring tone that things have a way of taking on when they have been a long time established. The ceiling runs into a somewhat livelier blue; and near the entrance is a recessed settle that furnishes the main color note—a warm, bold mass of royal red. In such a setting books become intimate. Here is the air of ripe scholarship and that sense of establishment and permanence in which alone the mind finds its time and chance. With such surroundings men once lived the life of the intellect instead of the cash register. . . . To create such an atmosphere beside the tide of traffic in a modern city might seem impossible, until one steps from the sidewalk of Grant Avenue into the hush, the quiet, the almost churchly peace of "Elder's," senses the coolness and security of its gray walls and arches and the beauty and strength of its Gothic treatment, making a refuge but a refuge, vital with the medieval spirit of work and service; and notes that the architect and the workman have wrought a perfect whole, consistent throughout, and without a suggestion of the haste and urgency of modern life. The place will be much discussed. It has distinction and will have its distinctive fame and that will add to the fame of San Francisco, for which every true San Franciscan will be grateful."

INTERIOR OF PAUL ELDER'S BOOK ROOMS, 239 GRANT AVENUE, SAN FRANCISCO.

IMPRESSARIOS TO PUBLISH MUSIC.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made by several of the most prominent managers of musical comedy in New York whereby they are to own and control a music publishing plant. Among the men at the head of this undertaking, in which thousands of dollars are to be invested, are Charles Frohman, Klaw & Erlanger, Charles Dillingham, Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., Henry W. Savage, and, in fact, all the producers of musical shows who are aligned with the so-called theatrical syndicate.

Negotiations are being closed for the purchase of the entire plant of one of the largest firms of music publishers in New York, and when this plant is transferred to the men mentioned they will then prepare to go into the business on a huge scale.

One of the men financially interested in the project, in speaking of this newest venture, said to a representative of the New York Herald: "We had hoped that news of our plans would not become public yet, but within sixty days New York will see a music publishing firm with more money behind it than any similar organization in the world. When we get well under way there will be few good songs written by American or European composers which will not be bought by us. The system of a producer chasing over this country and Europe for a song which he may think available for use in one of his productions will be done away with.

"We will be able to get the best work of the song writers and turn out music that will be available to those who desire it, as well as to protect the copyright and exclusive rights. Under our plan, if one manager buys the right to a song from us he will own it, and no one else will be able to put it into a show at will, as is now the case in many instances.

"We expect to get all the best songs at fair bargains from the prominent writers, and one of our aims will be the development of American song writers, of whom there are many."

OBITUARY NOTES.

CHARLES NOYES, who, for twenty-one years, as "Brother Ambrose," was prominent in the educational work of the Christian Brothers' College, died August 4 in St. Louis, Mo., at the age of fifty. He was an author, poet and playwright, one of his best-known works being "Satan at Arms."

BEST-SELLING BOOKS IN ENGLAND.

"JULY," according to the London Book Monthly, "has not been exciting in the book world—how could it be? We talk about books in July and buy them—those of us who do buy any—in October. But there is a summer bookbuyer, and perhaps of those issued in July he has bought the following six most largely:

Everybody's Secret. Dion Clayton Calthrop.
Alston Rovers.

The Necromancers. Robert Hugh Benson.
Hutchinson.

The Castle by the Sea. Marriott Watson.
Methuen.

The Adventures of Captain Jack. Max Pemberton.
Mills & Boon.

The Bride of the Mistletoe. James Lane Allen.
Macmillan.

Recollections of a Long Life, by Lord Broughton, edited by his daughter, Lady Dorchester.
Murray.

FRANK N. DOUBLEDAY ENCOURAGES AERONAUTICS.

FRANK N. DOUBLEDAY, senior member of Doubleday, Page & Company, on August 5 ordered a silver cup at Tiffany's which is to cost not less than $1000, to be presented to the American aeronaut who makes the best endurance record in a motor-propelled aircraft.

The prize will be offered by Mr. Doubleday through the contest committee of the Aero Club of America. This body, with the aid of the donor of the trophy, will devise a set of rules to govern the contest.

COMMUNICATIONS.

DUPLICATING TITLES.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: In reference to "On Duplication of Titles" in your issue of July 31, I wish to call your attention to the fact that under your "Literary and Trade Notes" on page 269, regarding the new book which Mitchell Kennerley will bring out under the title of "The Cities of Spain," by Royall Tyler, that it is an exact duplication of Edward Hutton's book, published by the Macmillan Company, "The Cities of Spain," first published by them in 1906.

CONRAD JAKI, JR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3, 1909.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: Noting the announcement of Robert Herrick's new book, "A Life for a Life," I would call attention to Miss Mulock's book, "A Life for a Life," on Harper & Brother's Trade List.

Miss Mulock's "A Life for a Life" has been a well known book to all booksellers for years and is still a seller.

This is a duplication of a title that would lead to confusion and to the detriment of the last one to use it. LUCIEN C. MITCHELL.

CHICAGO, August 5.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The National Text Book Company has been incorporated here to deal in books and periodicals. It is a Maine corporation.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Sears, Roebuck & Co., the large mail order house, will pay a tax this year on an assessment of $4,500,000 personal property, in addition to its real estate holdings. This sum, it is reported, is $1,500,000 more than last year.

COLUMBUS, IND.—James H. Curry sold his interest in the Curry Book Store to Curtis Fix, who will continue the business as the City Book and News Co.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Booklovers' Library of New York has been incorporated as book-sellers, stationers, printers, etc., with a reported capital of $50,000. The incorporators are William F. Smith, Philadelphia, Pa.; William Rickey and Lewis J. Herrington, Nanuet, N. Y.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Urban Publishing Co. has been incorporated to publish the magazine Smart Set, etc. The incorporators are Frederick Splint, Norman Boyer, both of No. 452 Fifth Avenue; and James J. Wilson, No. 288 St. Nicholas Avenue, all of New York.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Geyer's Stationer has brought out the proceedings of the fifth annual convention of the National Association of Stationers and Manufacturers of the United States, held at the Hotel Secor, Toledo, O., July 19 to 23. The proceedings were published daily while the convention was in session.

THE first two of his African articles will be contributed by Mr. Roosevelt to the October and November numbers of Scribner's Magazine. Their titles are "A Railroad Through the Pleistocene" and "On an East African Ranch." The illustrations will be from photographs taken by Kermit Roosevelt and other members of the expedition.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. will publish in the fall a new volume of poems by Madison Cawein, entitled "The Giant and the Star."

H. S. KRANS, formerly connected with the literary department of G. P. Putnam's Sons, has taken a similar position with Sturgis & Walton.

PROFESSOR COOPER, of Cornell University, with his forty collaborators, has completed his "Wordsworth Concordance." It contains some 200,000 entries.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co., for the convenience of the trade, visitors and others, have opened up a sample room in the Hotel Albert, University Place and Eleventh Street, New York, in charge of W. R. Spinney, who will take pleasure in showing their full line.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just announced a series of seven prizes which they offer for the best reviews of Mrs. Humphry Ward's novel, "Marriage à la Mode." A similar offer was made by them some months ago for reviews of Mr. Benson's novel, "The Climber." In the present contest the reviews are to be submitted not later than September 15, and must be within 1000 words in length. The cash prizes amount to $112.50, the other prizes being subscriptions to Country Life in America and The World's Work.

BROWN & PAGE, who have opened offices at 184 Summer Street, in the Hathaway Building, Boston, announce that they will publish their first book on October 1. It will be entitled "By Reef and Trail—Bob Leach's Adventures in Florida," by Fisher Ames, Jr., an associate editor of The Youth's Companion. The story takes a young Floridian, beginning at the age of fourteen, through a series of outdoor adventures and exciting episodes, culminating in a successful hunt for buried treasure. It is said to be, above all, a book for manly boys of from twelve to sixteen.

GEORGE H. DORAN, New York, has just ready "The Compact," the story of an unrecorded conspiracy in South Africa, by Ridgwell Cullum, author of "The Watchers of the Plains," "The Night Riders," etc. The compact is supposed to have been entered into between the Transvaal and Bismarck, to shut Great Britain out of the rich interior of South Africa. It was a magnificent piece of effrontery, the failure of which was undoubtedly the origin of Germany's bitterness and spleen over Britain's later doings in South Africa. The romantic element is skilfully worked into this story of the future El Dorado of the world.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish late this month a new story by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, entitled "Walled In." The series of volumes known as Harper's Library of Living Thought, consisting of books of serious import by contemporary authorities in all branches, is about to be extended by the addition of five new volumes. These books will be issued simultaneously in America and in England some time during August, and will cover each a separate recent field of criticism and discovery. The four volumes which have appeared previously are here recalled as Swinburne's "Three Plays of Shakespeare," Tolstoi's "The Teachings of Jesus," Professor W. M. Flinders Petrie's "Personal Religion in Egypt before Christianity," and, more recently, Sir Oliver Lodge's "The Ether of Space."

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. will bring out shortly "The Life of Mirabeau," by S. G. Tallentyre, author of "The Life of Voltaire," which is a result of much research; "Marriage as a Trade," by Cicely Hamilton, a severe arraignment of the social system which, according to the author, "denies to women any real career in life other than marriage, and which seems to degrade marriage to the plane of a means of livelihood;" "The Light Beyond the Shadows," by Hope Lawrence, a book addressed to those who suffer, and whose message is one of comfort in the sympathy of the fellow suffering; "A Pixy in Petticoats," by John Trevena, a love story of wonderful charm by the author of "Arminel of the West," the scene of which is in Dartmoor; also, a new edition of Henry Van Dyke's charming book, "The Music Lover," with a frontispiece by Ivanowski.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish shortly a new book by Professor William James on the subject of Pragmatism, entitled "The Meaning of Truth: a Sequel to Pragmatism." In this book, so the reader is told, Professor James has brought together all that he has ever written on the theory of knowledge, including the article on "The Function of Cognition," which appeared in 1884; all his more recent polemic and expository contributions, and some replies to criticisms which will be printed for the first time in this volume. Their Andrew Lang book this year will not be a fairy book, as has usually been the case in the twenty-one volumes that have already been published in the series, but will deal with historical subjects, retold in narrative form for young people. It will be entitled "The Red Book of Heroes." The book is written by Mrs. Lang and is edited by Andrew Lang. It will contain eight colored plates and numerous other illustrations by A. Wallis Mills. The historical stories which make up its table of contents are twelve in number.

JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY have in preparation a scholarly work on Assyriology, entitled "Haverford Library Collection of Cuneiform Tablets, or, Documents from the Temple Archives of Tulluh." It will form Part II. of the work published several years ago by Professor George A. Barton, of Bryn Mawr College, and will contain no less than ninety-four new cuneiform texts, embodying much new information concerning the economic and political organization of the empire of the second dynasty of Ur. Professor Barton presents in this volume a number of additional Babylonian numerical notations to those previously known, and the volume will also contain corrections to Part I. It will be a large folio and will be ready probably in October. They have also in preparation for publication in the early fall a novel by Mrs. Charles Tracey Taylor, of Germantown. It will be called "A Daughter of the Manse," and while it will be marked by a certain religious tone, will possess interest of its own as a romantic narrative, dealing with real problems of life.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY have in preparation nine of Eliza Calvert Hall's "Aunt Jane" stories, which will be brought out under the general title of "The Land of Long Ago." So precisely does this collection of stories reflect the spirit of the author's first book, "Aunt Jane of Kentucky," that were not such a measure almost invariably impolitic, it might have had the same title. The "land" is Kentucky, and the author knows the State and its people so well that she has no difficulty in finding new types and varied backgrounds. The book will be illustrated by G. Patrick Nelson and Miss Beulah Strong. They will add to Mrs. Etta Blaisdell McDonald's series—Little People Everywhere—four volumes: "Manuel in Mexico," "Um'e San in Japan," "Rafael in Italy" and "Kathleen in Ireland." Germany, Sweden, Russia, Egypt, Scotland, Holland, Canada and Spain will be the subjects of the next eight, and in the twelve six heroes will be matched against six heroines. Eight pictures, a colored frontispiece, and a cover in color form the equipment of the books to enter the field against the rivals already in possession.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish next month a new book by George Barr McCutcheon, entitled "Truxton King," who is a sort of cousin to the "Graustark" family, described as just about the liveliest, keenest, coolest and most likable lad that ever came out of "Graustark"—which is a strong recommendation. They will publish at the same time a new book by Mrs. Post, author of "The Flight of the Moth," "Purple and Fine Linen" and other books that found instant favor with the public. No one who has read Mrs. Post's earlier books can form any idea of "The Title Market." It is so far ahead of her other performances that it is difficult to believe that such an advance could be made in the space of a few years. They have in preparation for the fall a book entitled "Recollections, New and Old, of Joseph Jefferson," by the famous actor's daughter-in-law, Eugenie Paul Jefferson. The volume aims to give an intimate account of Jefferson's personal home life, telling much that no one outside of the family circle could tell, and narrating many things that the famous comedian was obviously unable to mention in his autobiography. Anecdote and reminiscence touching on the varied phases of Jefferson's life are the characteristic forms of expression used in the volume, the familiar, personal note in which is heightened by the illustrations, many of them from photographs taken by Joe Jefferson himself. The volume will be profusely illustrated.

THE GRIFFITH & ROWLAND PRESS, (The American Baptist Publication Society,) have just ready a romance of the Northwest by Professor George R. Varney, entitled "Out of the Depths." The story deals with the struggles of a clergyman who settles as a pastor of a large church in a city of the Northwest. He meets political corruption and he attacks it. He encounters Christian Science and subjects it to keen analysis and refutes it. He is assailed by subtle temptation and overcomes it. He is the victim of a base plot, but comes out of it unscathed, and wins as his wife a splendid girl whom he rescues from evil. They are planning to bring out next month a fourth volume in the Pacific Series of juvenile tales by Professor Edwin J. Houston, "At School in the Cannibal Islands," a series in which entertaining adventure is skillfully combined with the imparting of scientific information concerning the South Seas and their inhabitants; "Ward Hill at College," by Everett T. Tomlinson, the third of a similar series, which will deal with the serious problem of clean athletics in school life. A fourth volume in the Church History Handbooks will also be ready in September. These are the work of the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Vedder, and the new volume will contain a concise history of the Baptist Church and a condensed statement of the fundamental principles for which it stands. The society has in preparation, for publication in the fall, the introductory book in the series of the National Teacher-Training Institute Textbooks. It will be called "The Baptist Teacher-Training Manual," and will be edited by the Rev. H. T. Musselman.

ON September 3, the John Lane Company will publish the first book on Sicily since the disaster at Messina. This is "Seekers in Sicily," by Elizabeth Bisland and Anne Hoyt, and recounts the experiences of two American ladies on one of the most fascinating islands in the world. The authors endeavor to interpret the spirit of the island, as well as to give an account of its natural beauties and the characteristics of its inhabitants. They pay particular attention to the association of Sicily with classical tradition and history. There is a stirring account of the discovery of Sicily by the Greek merchant, Theocles, and of the capture of Messina from the Saracens by the Norman, Roger de Hauteville, accompanied by but sixty knights and their squires. The illustrations are an important addition to the volume, and a unique feature is the adoption of the tribe signs or totems of the original inhabitants of Sicily as headings for the chapters. Stained glass is so intimately associated with the past history of manners as well as art, in England and on the Continent, that Charles H. Sherrill's new book, "Stained Glass Tours in England," a companion volume in subject to the same author's popular "Stained Glass Tours in France," should be of interest to a large circle of readers. The book should, however, appeal especially to tourists, as Mr. Sherrill gives maps and careful instructions, that the traveller may see the most beautiful stained glass in England with the greatest comfort and convenience. The tours suggested by Mr. Sherrill are, moreover, so arranged that "by the time the pilgrim has completed them he will have obtained a well-rounded impression not only of glass, but also of the history as well as the ancient manners and customs of England." The illustrations in the present volume are profuse and of marked excellence. The book will be published on September 3 by the John Lane Company.

BASEBALL NOTES.

GROSSET & DUNLAP VS. G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS.

ON Saturday, August 7, the baseball teams from Grosset & Dunlap and G. P. Putnam's Sons crossed bats for a return game, the victory this time resting with the Grosset & Dunlap team. The feature of the game was the two running catches made by Jacob King, who played centre field for the Grosset & Dunlap team. The following is the score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Putnam.....	0	0	2	0	7	0	0	2	0	—11
Grosset & Dunlap..	0	0	0	3	0	0	9	0	x	—12

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

25 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

25 Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

ANOTHER TYPE OF BOOK—NOW READY

GREEN GINGER

By ARTHUR MORRISON

Author of "The Hole in the Wall," "Tales of Mean Streets,"
"Cunning Murrell," etc.

A budget of funny tales and yarns—really funny ones that will make you laugh out loud. They have a delicious flavor of their own, and every one hits you in a new place. The situations are pungent with good spirits and cleverness, from the conversation to the setting, so that we chuckle along as we go—but the astonishing secret is never out until it bursts with a laugh at the end.

We recommend this volume with the same confidence with which we recommended "Many Cargoes" and "Wolfville"—both volumes of short stories.
